Transforming Schools: A Community-Learning Perspective. Cynthia B. Price 2013-04-18 This book shows how schools can provide services to all segments of the community, not just to students of school age. It describes a successful schools as a moral community.

Schools As Moral Communities: A Framework And Guide For School Administrators Principals And Teachers. Hansjörg Dilger 2021-12-16 Examines how learning and teaching morality in Tanzania’s faith-oriented schools is inextricably interwoven with the complex power relations of an interconnected world.

Educating Moral Sensibilities in Urban Schools. Michael Schulman 1995 This book is based on the premise that schools are communities and that schools must be created as moral communities if moral education is to succeed in the schools. Sections of the book present important ideas for developing schools as moral communities.

Character Education Connections for School, Home, and Community. A. Michael Dougherty 2013-03-01 With Dougherty’s PSYCHOLOGICAL CONSULTATION AND COLLABORATION IN SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY, a new model for schools as learning communities can emerge.

The Township and Community High School Movement in Illinois. Lawrence A. Blum 2012 In “High Schools, Race, and America’s Future,” Blum recounts his time teaching a challenging pilot course on race and racism in a diverse high school. The book is a revealing look at how race and racism are both shaped and reproduced in the spaces and practices of schooling.

A Critical Incident. A. Levy. 2014-12-15 The author, a lesbian teacher from a rural school, shares her experiences of being a lesbian in a rural school community. It examines the incompatibility of private and professional identities, investigates the moral panic that surrounds teacher sexuality in schools and considers the impact of homophobic and heteronormative discursive practices on health, wellbeing and identity. Crucially, this research offers compelling insights into the experiences of power and identity that are protected and perpetuated in the transformative discourses of democracy.

Developing a National Framework for Community Consultation. Etta R. Hollins 2019-03-04 For preservice candidates and novice teachers facing the challenges of feeling underprepared to teach in urban schools, this book offers a framework for conceptualizing, planning, and engaging in powerful teaching. Veteran teacher educator Etta Ruth Hollins builds on previous work to focus on transformative practices that emphasize the purpose and process of teaching. These practices are intended to help urban teachers develop the tools and strategies they need to create equitable, inclusive, and genuinely effective classrooms.

High Schools, Race, and America’s Future. Lawrence A. Blum 2012 In “High Schools, Race, and America’s Future,” Blum recounts his time teaching a challenging pilot course on race and racism in a diverse high school. The book is a revealing look at how race and racism are both shaped and reproduced in the spaces and practices of schooling.

Community-oriented Leaders: Organizing for School Improvement. Lee Levison 2018-03-29 Published in 1994, this book examines the processes through which independent school community service programs, as educational innovations, emerge and evolve. Levison provides a detailed account of the development and implementation of a community service program at the Westminster School (Connecticut).

The Moral Panic of Teacher Sexuality. Yesye Iwobi, Michael Schulman 2006 This book explores the complex ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed, how it aligns with and challenges dominant narratives, and how it is mobilized in the practices of resistance and activism. Through a series of case studies, the authors draw on interviews with teachers, school administrators, and community members to provide insights into the ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed and experienced.

Indigenous Education. The sociology of education, the first of a series of books on the sociology of education, is a full-length introduction to the field. It covers a wide range of topics, and is written in an accessible style.

Character Education Connections for School, Home, and Community. A. Michael Dougherty 2013-03-01 With Dougherty’s PSYCHOLOGICAL CONSULTATION AND COLLABORATION IN SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY, a new model for schools as learning communities can emerge.

Community of Policy Leaders. N. Seidman 2010 This book offers a comprehensive analysis of the processes through which educational innovations, such as community service programs, emerge and evolve. It provides a framework for understanding the role of policy leaders in shaping the development of educational innovations.

Developing a National Framework for Community Consultation. Etta R. Hollins 2019-03-04 For preservice candidates and novice teachers facing the challenges of feeling underprepared to teach in urban schools, this book offers a framework for conceptualizing, planning, and engaging in powerful teaching. Veteran teacher educator Etta Ruth Hollins builds on previous work to focus on transformative practices that emphasize the purpose and process of teaching. These practices are intended to help urban teachers develop the tools and strategies they need to create equitable, inclusive, and genuinely effective classrooms.

The Moral Panic of Teacher Sexuality. Yesye Iwobi, Michael Schulman 2006 This book explores the complex ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed, how it aligns with and challenges dominant narratives, and how it is mobilized in the practices of resistance and activism. Through a series of case studies, the authors draw on interviews with teachers, school administrators, and community members to provide insights into the ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed and experienced.

American University in Cairo Press, 416 pp. In this thought-provoking book, the author explores the ways in which sex education is being redefined globally, and she questions the conventional wisdom that assumes a clear distinction between sexuality and education.

As a community leader, you are the key to fostering a sense of belonging and welcoming in your community. This book explores the ways in which community leaders can create a safe and inclusive environment for all members of a community.

The Moral Panic of Teacher Sexuality. Yesye Iwobi, Michael Schulman 2006 This book explores the complex ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed, how it aligns with and challenges dominant narratives, and how it is mobilized in the practices of resistance and activism. Through a series of case studies, the authors draw on interviews with teachers, school administrators, and community members to provide insights into the ways in which teacher sexuality is constructed and experienced.